Police chief taken to hospital

HEALTH Police Chief Mike Boyd was rushed to hospital Wednesday morning after suffering from a "medical related incident," says a statement from Edmonton police services.

Deputy Chief Daryl da Costa told reporters that Boyd wasn't feeling well on Wednesday — the same day when the Edmonton Police Service hosted an arson conference.

Boyd collapsed roughly 45 minutes after a speech during the conference at Edmonton Police Headquarters, reported the CBC.

Seguin gets a taste of Oil Country

DRAFT Another day, another top prospect gets toured around Edmonton by the Oilers organization.

Last week, Taylor Hall of the Windsor Spitfires was in town to check out Oil Country and face its media, and Thursday it was Plymouth Whalers star Tyler Seguin's turn.

MIRIAM ITZECK/FOR METRO EDMONTON

Tyler Seguin

"Most importantly I want to play (in the) NHL next year," said Seguin at the Sutton Place Hotel downtown. With the Oilers holding the top pick in this year's NHL Draft, the question of which of the two prospects — Hall or Seguin — best suits a team that finished last in the league this past season is being hotly debated. But whether or not it be for Edmonton, Seguin has little doubt he'll be playing NHL hockey next year. "I'm confident in my skills and that I'm going to be there," said Seguin.

Culture minister feels the heat after four-letter word

JEFF CUMMINGS
for Metro Edmonton

Culture Minister Lindsay Blackett is up "the s-word" creek without a paddle as far as Alberta's opposition parties and workers in Canada's television industry are concerned.

The outrage comes after Blackett called some Canadian television programming "s—" Monday while sitting in on a panel that featured Will & Grace star Eric McCormack and former Beverly Hills 90210 star Jason Priestley at the World Television Festival in Banff.

"I sit here as a government representative for film and television in the province of Alberta and I look at what we produce and if we're honest with ourselves, why do I produce so much s—? Why do I fund so much crap," said Blackett during the festival

Blackett has since apologized for using the "s-word," but he's not backing on his feelings towards all-Canadian programming.

"We've got some excellent Canadian programming and I said some of the broadcasters," said Blackett.

"I don't think we spend enough focus on the great Canadian content that we already have, and can produce more."

"If the minister of education said our teachers were crap, that minister would be fired."
Laurie Blakeman, Liberal culture critic

But Liberal culture critic Laurie Blakeman believes the minister should resign since his comments were "totally unnecessary."

And the Alliance of Canadian Cinema, Television and Radio Artists said it's "appalled" by his comments.

"If the minister of education said our teachers were crap, that minister would be fired," said Blakeman.

"(The taxpayers) take the mileage for him to go to Banff and he does some one-upmanship with the panellists."

No breaks for noisy bikers

JEFF CUMMINGS
for Metro Edmonton

"The gross offender that we're going after and targeting already knows that they're going to be over."
Sgt. Eric Theuser

Edmonton motorcyclists who choose to defy a new noise bylaw by blasting their engines won't get an easy ride from city cops, says a traffic division sergeant.

Sgt. Eric Theuser said police will immediately hand out fines to riders who rev up their engines louder than 92 decibels once the new law comes into effect July 1.

"The gross offender that we're going after and targeting already knows that they're going to be over," Theuser told Metro.

"They've been driving around for years with their bikes making excessive noise. So will there be a need for these individuals to receive the benefit of a warning? I don't think so."

After pulling over a motorbike that a patrol officer believes is loud, city cops will place a handheld device at a 45-degree angle roughly 50 metres away from the bike's exhaust system.

Theuser said the device will get a reading immediately after the bike is idling and after another test when the bike is at an rpm benchmark of 2,000 to 5,000.

"If we find a bike that we think is worthy of a test, that is what we will do," said Theuser.

Police plan to host an "amnesty" event for riders to test their bikes at the South NAIT Campus on Saturday and Sunday between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The event will give people the chance to test if their motorcycles meet industry standards.

WEC 49 cagefighters give mall-goers a sneak peek

ANDREAS MORSE
andreas.morse@metronews.ca

MMA There was a brawl at the mall Thursday as some of the best mixed martial artists in the world are in Edmonton for WEC 49 Sunday.

A few of the lightweight fighters from World Extreme Cagefighting were at West Edmonton Mall working out and punching the bag in front of fight fans who got a sneak peek for free.

"I just came to check out the fighters. I've been an MMA fan for the last three years so I decided to come check it out," said Claude Duval from High Level, who goes home Saturday. "Man oh man, I wish I could be here, because I definitely would enjoy the fights for sure."

Duval said he thinks it's a good idea for the WEC to showcase their fighters to fans because it shows the less initiated that it's not all about violence.

"I think it's a good thing, it shows fans how athletic these guys are," he said.

"When they're back in town I'll definitely make an effort to come out."

WEC founder Reid Harris has been in town since last Sunday and is already impressed by the calibre of local fight fans.

"Most of the guys have been here since Tuesday and everyone's enjoying it a lot," Harris said.

"The people are great and ticket sales are going really well."

Tickets for WEC 49 are available at the Rexall Box Office or through Ticketmaster.

TRANSIT A public hearing on June 22 will give citizens the opportunity to input their thoughts on the route selection of the North-West LRT expansion.

In preparation for the hearing, information sessions have been held to share more details on the evaluations process and the recommended route.

The Transportation Department suggested the 113A Street Corridor, using 153 Avenue, for the extension. City council will have to make a decision on the final route.

The hearing takes place at the city hall council chambers from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Anyone wishing to speak must register in advance by calling 780-496-8178. METRO EDMONTON

Rent long overdue in Edmonton

andreas.morse@metronews.ca

MUSICAL It's officially better to Rent than to own in Edmonton thanks to Two One-Way Tickets to Broadway Productions.

For the first time ever, Jonathan Larson's rock opera Rent is coming to town and stage director Martin Galba is glad the long wait is finally over.

"The Edmonton crowd is ready for Rent and we wanted to be the first to put it on," said the Slovakian-born actor/director. "We've just been waiting for the rights to be released and that happened last year, so we decided to do this now."

Rent tells the story of a group of impoverished young artists and musicians struggling to create, express and ultimately survive in New York City's Lower East Side, under the grim shadow of AIDS.

George Krissa and Alix Ryan-Wong star as Roger and Mimi in the rock opera Rent.

"Those people who know musical theatre, who know Rent, they will appreciate the complexity of the musical," Galba said. "It is extremely challenging vocally, emotionally and musically."

Galba said 120 people auditioned for roles in the Broadway musical, so he was able to find the right talent and the right voices for the production.

"The Edmonton crowd is ready for Rent and we wanted to be the first to put it on."
Martin Galba, actor/director

"We were able to double cast," Galba said. "We were actually able to find two people for every role."

From June 18 to 26, Rent will be running matinees and evening performances at La Cite. Galba said the local actors will alternate performances between matinee and evening shows.

Tickets for the show are $25 plus service charges and are available through Tix on the Square.

Authority must put in for bus route to airport: Report

JEFF CUMMINGS
for Metro Edmonton

TRANSIT Taking an Edmonton transit bus to the Edmonton International Airport could become a reality this fall only if the airport authority pays for half the route, says a new city report.

The city's transportation department will urge city council on Wednesday to approve an 18-month test service that will see buses running from the Century Park LRT station to the airport every 30 minutes from 5:30 a.m. to 1:30 a.m.

Transit riders who want to use the service will pay $5 for a ride to the airport and they won't be permitted to use regular bus tickets, passes or transfers on the route.

The service, however, will still need a subsidy of $982,000 for the test run since "there is a significant risk of low ridership levels," the report says.

And the report estimates a revenue of $1 million.

The Edmonton Regional Airport Authority has said it would participate in funding the test, but further talks still need to take place.

"Funding is required to proceed with the trial service ... following further discussions regarding cost-sharing arrangements," the report says.

Underwear Affair fundraising walk/run for cancers below waist taking place Saturday

MIRIAM ITZECK
for Metro Edmonton

Hundreds of people will be stripping down Saturday, raising funds and awareness for cancers below the waist.

Participants in the Underwear Affair will walk or run in their underwear to support the Alberta Cancer Foundation. The fundraiser specifically addresses cancers in areas usually covered by underwear, such as prostate, colo-rectal, ovarian, bladder, cervical and testicular cancer.

Dressed in pink-and-black polka-dot tutus, Team Clitar Heroes will be running for Krista, who passed away from cervical cancer at the age of 31 in March of this year.

Leaving behind three kids, aged 11, 6, and 4, she had been the one recruiting friends and family for the team that she named herself.

"There will be a lot of crazy people out there running around in wild and crazy underwear costumes."
Linda Nickelson, Alberta Cancer Foundation CEO

Leslee Byer will run the 10K in memory of her friend, an avid runner and fitness queen.

"She was very courageous," Beyer said.

"I would think about her and feel scared and sad. But every time I'd spend time with her, I'd feel better. Even through it all, she was the crutch for everybody."

Approximately one-third of newly diagnosed cancers in Alberta each year are below the waist. Yet screening in these places is often avoided, even though it can spur early detection and prevention.

The Underwear Affair is attempting to change this.

Linda Nickelson, CEO of the Alberta Cancer Foundation, said the event has generated a tremendous response since it launched four years ago.

"It's great because it's an event that appeals to just about everybody. For a couple of years, I've walked in the event with my grandson," Nickelson said.

At 6 p.m. on Saturday, the runners and walkers will be hitting the streets again with outfits ranging from barely there to in-your-face.

"Believe me, we'll catch people's attention. There will be a lot of crazy people out there running around in wild and crazy underwear costumes," Nickelson said.

A 'cascading series of errors'

Air India report blasts Ottawa, RCMP, CSIS

The bomb blast that killed 329 people aboard Air India Flight 182 could have been prevented but for a "cascading series of errors" by authorities, a damning report says.

The report — four years in the making — says government, RCMP and CSIS should have known the flight was a terror target.

Former Supreme Court justice John Major, who headed an exhaustive inquiry, says agencies were not prepared for the threat of terror attacks in 1985 — and holes in the security systems still need plugging.

"The level of error, incompetence, and inattention which took place before the flight was sadly mirrored in many ways for many years," Major said.

His No. 1 recommendation is beefed-up powers for the national security adviser to set security policies and priorities, and oversee communication between agencies. He also calls for compensation for the victims' families.

Prime Minister Stephen Harper welcomed the report, saying the government will respond "positively" to the recommendations. The report was delivered 25 years, almost to the day, after the worst terrorist attack in Canadian history. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Animal deaths reflect problem with care: Report

ZOO To many in the city, the tally of animal deaths at the Calgary Zoo in recent years seemed unusually high.

But a report released Thursday by the groups that accredit zoos across North America suggested the string of deaths wasn't an unfortunate fluke.

It concluded human error was behind more deaths than at other zoos and urged immediate steps be taken to ensure the creatures' safety.

Province OK's Suncor's plan

Oil giant set to invest more than $1B to clean up tailings ponds

Alberta's energy regulator has given its thumbs-up to Suncor Energy Inc.'s plan to handle waste from its massive oilsands operations near Fort McMurray, Alta.

"This is great news and a significant milestone in addressing one of the greatest reclamation challenges in oilsands mining," said Kirk Bailey, Suncor's executive vice-president of oilsands.

Suncor's plan is the third to be approved since the province's Energy Resources Conservation Board ordered oilsands miners to clean up their tailings ponds — enormous lakes water, clay, sand and bitumen left behind after crude has been extracted.

Calgary-based Suncor, Canada's largest energy company, plans to invest more than $1 billion on technology to shorten the time it takes for fine clay particles to settle in the ponds.

In the past, it has taken several decades for mature fine tailings to separate. But in Suncor's Tailings Reduction Operations, or TRO, process, the substance dries out in a matter of weeks. Vegetation can then be planted over the dry material.

Tailings ponds gained worldwide notoriety in 2008, when 1,600 waterfowl died after landing on a giant lake at Syncrude Canada Ltd.'s oilsands mine.

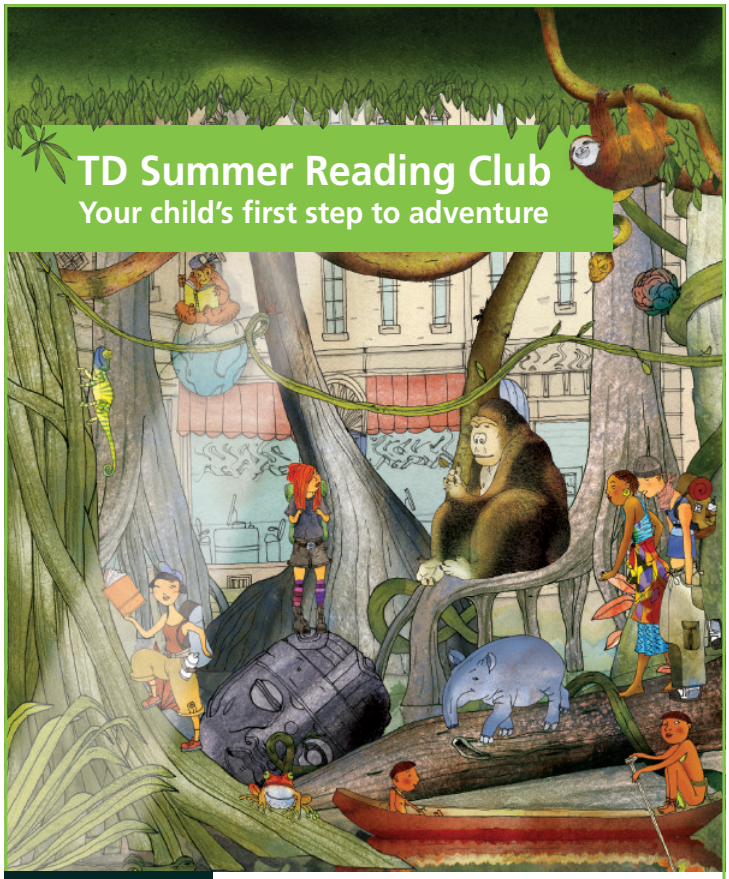

The ERCB estimates tailings ponds today contain about 840 million cubic metres of fluid and cover about 170 square kilometres across Northern Alberta.

In a release, the ERCB said TRO will allow Suncor to reduce the volume of fluid tailings by 30 per cent by the end of the project's life.

"Suncor's plan does not include the creation of any new tailings ponds and will actually allow Suncor to operate five fewer tailings ponds and use less space for fluid tailings storage than originally applied for," said the ERCB release.

In April, the ERCB approved plans for Syncrude, the world's largest oilsands project, and Fort Hills, a yet-to-be developed mine operated by Suncor.

G(irls)20 rep aims to be 'voice of hope'

SUMMIT Girls from all the G20 countries are gathering in Toronto this week for the first G(irls)20 Summit to show what the world would be like if they were in charge.

The summit is part of an international campaign called 3.3 Billion Ways, which is led by the Belinda Stronach Foundation.

Metro Canada asked participants how they think the world's greatest challenges can best be solved.

Here's Nomathemba Sibanyoni, 19, of South Africa.

Q What do you believe are the biggest challenges for women and girls in your country?

A Teenage pregnancy under poverty conditions. Leaders can encourage and assure the enhancement, availability and implementation of educational workshops and campaigns especially targeting disadvantaged areas.

Nomathemba Sibanyoni

Q What do you do to help the lives of girls and women in your community, your country?

A I engage myself in various social empowerment projects, including writing and presenting poems and speeches in issues related to women, I become their voices of hope.

Q How do you think we can improve maternal health worldwide?

A I believe certain diseases are preventable, provided people know the precautions. In a global sense, maternal health problems can be prevented and cured by raising health awareness campaigns.

Q How can we eradicate extreme poverty and hunger worldwide?

A Agriculture and proper land management is the best possible solution that can be implemented and be moderated for communities who are attacked by extreme poverty and hunger.

Jaffer faces contempt accusation

POLITICS Rahim Jaffer's explanations ran the gamut from lax dry cleaning habits to mental distraction.

But the former Tory MP's second attempt to convince a Commons committee that his business dealings were above board fuelled more anger among MPs of all stripes and an accusation that he was in contempt of Parliament.

The Speaker of the House will rule in the fall if Jaffer breached the privileges of Parliament by giving inconsistent testimony while failing to provide all documents the committee had requested.

On their final day before the summer break, members of the government operations committee reported to the Commons that they believed Jaffer was thumbing his nose at their work. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Palin ridiculed, again

Remarks on oil spill cleanup derided as erroneous

She's blamed environmentalists for helping cause the catastrophe in the Gulf of Mexico, accused U.S. President Barack Obama of using the oil spill to raise energy prices and urged the White House to contact the Dutch because "they are known for dikes."

Sarah Palin — the guiding light of the foundering Tea Party movement whose energy mantra is "drill, baby, drill" — is back in the U.S. spotlight in the midst of the worst environmental disaster in American history.

Even Bill O'Reilly of Fox News, the cable news giant that gave the self-styled hockey mom her own show, seemed taken aback earlier this week when he interviewed the rambling Palin following Obama's address to the U.S. about the spill. He pressed the former Alaska governor, considered well-versed in energy issues, to explain what she'd do to plug the gusher several kilometres beneath the surface of the Gulf of Mexico.

"The Dutch," said Palin, who insisted the Obama administration was refusing help from foreign governments.

"They are known, and the Norwegians. They are known for ... for dikes and for cleaning up water and for dealing with spills."

In fact, it was noted following her interview, many foreign nations are contributing to the efforts to combat the gusher, including the Norwegians and the Dutch — although in the early days of the spill, when oil giant BP was wildly underestimating the extent of the spill, their offer to help was declined.

Russia will "always hate" U.S. missile defences because it cannot match them, but that should not stand in the way of ratifying a new U.S.-Russian arms treaty, Defence Secretary Robert Gates said Thursday. New morning-after pill closer to market

PHARMACEUTICALS U.S. government health experts said Thursday a new type of morning-after contraceptive that works longer than existing drugs is safe and effective.

The Food and Drug Administration's panel of reproductive health experts voted unanimously that the pill ellaOne successfully reduces the chance of pregnancy up to five days after sex. Plan B, the most widely used emergency contraceptive pill, is only effective if women take it within three days of sex.

In a separate vote the panel unanimously ruled that the drug appeared safe, according to an FDA spokeswoman.

The positive recommendation moves the pill, which is already approved in Europe, one step closer to the U.S. market.

The FDA is not required to follow the panel's advice, though it often does. Studies by the drug's manufacturer, HRA Pharma, showed ellaOne prevented pregnancies longer and more consistently than Plan B. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Children are seen through a bus window Thursday as they leave the southern Kyrgyz city of Osh.

Humanitarian crisis unfolding

Some 400,000 people have been displaced by ethnic violence in southern Kyrgyzstan, the United Nations announced Thursday, dramatically increasing the official estimate of a crisis that has left throngs of desperate, fearful refugees without enough food and water in grim camps along the Uzbek border.

Ethnic Uzbeks interviewed by Associated Press journalists in the main regional city of Osh said ethnic Kyrgyz men had sexually assaulted and beaten more than 10 Uzbek women and girls, including some pregnant women, and children as young as 12, on a single street during the rampages that erupted last week. Resident Matlyuba Akramova showed journalists a 16-year-old relative who appeared to be in a state of shock, and said she had been hiding in the attic as Kyrgyz mobs beat her father in their home in the Cheryomushki neighbourhood. At some point, Akramova said, the girl came downstairs to bandage her father's head and another group of attackers noticed her and sexually assaulted her in front of her father. Members of the Kyrgyz community have denied accusations of brutality and have accused Uzbek of raping Kyrgyz women.

Eyewitnesses and experts say many Kyrgyz were killed in the unrest between the majority Kyrgyz population and minority ethnic Uzbeks. But the majority of victims appear to have been predominantly Uzbeks, traditional farmers and traders who speak a distinct but separate Turkic language and have traditionally been more prosperous than the Kyrgyz, who come from a nomadic tradition. Lights ... camera ... sell Edmonton

UrbanCompass

The City of Edmonton can learn a lot from the social media marketing strategies of a number of private sector firms. A YouTube video sponsored by Coca-Cola and Mentos is a case in point.

Unless you live under a rock, you know if you put Mentos into a bottle of Diet Coke a big gusher results. With that in mind, the two companies sponsored a video that shows Coke Zero and Mentos being used to power a rocket car. Check it out; it's a way cool video. To date, more than two million people have done just that.

What's my point? Well let's look at some of the videos about Edmonton on YouTube. There are videos about The Fringe, The Works, Heritage Days and the Street Performers Festival. And what kind of viewership have they drawn? Most of them languish in the double digits to low hundreds of views. The odd one pushes toward 2,000.

It doesn't take long to realize that like all the popular videos on YouTube, it's the ones with some sort of entertainment value that tend to pull the greatest number of viewers. The abysmal numbers for videos about Edmonton indicate their almost complete lack of anything entertaining. Most of them are quite boring; lots of talking heads and videos of various sites around the city, but nothing that would make someone forward them to a friend.

There are a lot of creative people in this city who can write a good script and shoot great videos. Frame 30 and Dynacor are just two examples that come to mind, but there are many others, too. Frame 30 has made some excellent commercials for international, national and provincial clients. What kind of video would Frame 30 create about Edmonton if given the opportunity? If nothing else, I bet whatever it came up with would be entertaining.

So here's a thought. The City of Edmonton should sponsor a lucrative video contest that would encourage anyone with a video camera to show how funny, weird, entertaining or unique this city is. The city could then post the videos on YouTube and track how many times they are viewed. Depending on the videos, the city could build a marketing strategy on them the way the private sector does. At the very least, thousands, perhaps millions of people would get an opportunity to see just how creative this city really is.

Leaders may have to resort to candles

The environmental showpiece of the G8 summit has lost some of its lustre.

World leaders will bask in the glow of only five solar-powered street lights instead of the planned 15 when they arrive in Ontario's cottage country later this month.

The solar lamps are the G8 summit's "signature environmental project." They were supposed to line the pathways of a resort near Huntsville, Ont., during the leaders' one-night stay.

But the lighting company says the tough terrain makes for slow going, and there isn't enough time left to get all 15 lights installed before the summit starts.

"There may be only five of them now used in different spots because of rocks," said Ove Bakmand, president of Net Electric Ltd. "But they will be done in a couple of days. By the end of this week."

G8 Summit

Summit organizers had high hopes for the solar lights.

"Leaving an environmental legacy is an important component of the 2010 G8 summit's environmental strategy," says a contract document.

"A well-chosen signature project at the Deerhurst Resort will help to showcase innovative Canadian technology, while leaving a positive lasting impression of the summit."

The G8 solar lights cost $207,900. The same money could buy almost 14,000 solar-powered Noma garden lights at Canadian Tire. Those lights cost $15 each.

But Bakmand said "this is nothing similar to that."

The government awarded the contract to Net Electric May 25 — a month before the start of the summit. The rush order didn't leave the company much time to do the job.

"It was basically unreasonable," Bakmand said.

The solar lights will be moved from the resort into the town after the summit as a gift to Huntsville.

"As the Muskoka 2010 G8 summit is being held at a privately owned resort, the signature environmental project will be installed at the Deerhurst Resort for use during the summit only and then gifted to the town of Huntsville for installation at a location within the town," the document says.

Bill seeks more mobile clarity

Hot on the heels of Apple announcing it will sell unlocked iPhones in Canada, an NDP MP has introduced a resolution that would force cellphone carriers to do the same with all the devices they sell.

Bruce Hyer, the MP for Thunder Bay-Superior North, on Thursday tabled Bill C-560, the cellphone freedom act. The bill proposes three rules: cellphone carriers would be required to notify customers at the point of purchase whether a phone is locked to work only on their network; they would have to remove such a lock free of charge at any point after the conclusion of the customer's service contract; and they would have to remove it if the customer does not enter into a contract within six months of buying the device up front.

"Mobile phone customers should have the freedom to choose whether they want to be locked into a company's cell network or not," Hyer said in a statement.

Canada's major wireless carriers typically sell mobile devices locked to their network on top of multi-year contracts. Some carriers say this is to ensure that the devices work properly

Boeing delays hamper expansion: Air Canada

Delays by Boeing in delivering its new 787 aircraft have limited Air Canada's ability to expand its international flight map, Canada's largest airline said Thursday.

Air Canada said it has been busy adding new destinations in the United States, Europe and Asia. However, it could have done more to add routes to India and elsewhere in Asia if it had the smaller, long-range Boeing 787.

"It opens up all these route opportunities that normally wouldn't be viable for us," said Ben Smith, Air Canada's chief commercial officer.

Still waiting

- Air Canada has 37 Boeing 787s on order. They were originally supposed to be delivered in 2008, but manufacturing delays have pushed that back to 2013.

Mumbai in India and Changzhou in China, for example, don't generate enough traffic for the airline to be profitably serviced using the giant Boeing 777, while the smaller 767 has insufficient range.

"A 787 and all of a sudden it becomes interesting," Smith said.

The airline says increasing travel to international destinations, along with a push for higher fares in business class, are key drivers to sustainable profits.

"We only have 37 per cent of the market share for Canada international (travel), and we think we can do a lot better than that, so you'll see from us a lot more focus and effort in that area," Smith said.

It hopes to increasingly attract business travellers from the U.S. northeast to fly its growing service to Asia. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Helicopter firm sees upside in Afghan pullout

WAR Canadian Helicopters Income Fund hopes to retain its lucrative presence in Afghanistan when the U.S. military withdraws its combat troops and the focus switches to rebuilding the war-torn country.

"We think there's some opportunity ultimately in the reconstruction side when this all gets settled and they pull out," chief executive Don Wall said Thursday after its annual meeting.

The Montreal-based helicopter transportation provider moves supplies and passengers from an undisclosed military base to forward operating locations for the U.S. military. It's highly profitable work the company says will bring in $155 million over several years and more than fully offset weakness at home caused by the economic recession. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Flaherty optimistic about Euro recovery

ECONOMY Finance Minister Jim Flaherty is encouraged by the response to the European crisis so far and believes more action will be taken at the G20 summit next week.

The finance minister appeared at a Senate committee hearing Thursday defending his budget bill, saying Canada is the envy of the world in terms of its economic health.

Flaherty told the senators that although Canada's economy has bounced back strongly from recession, with a 6.2 per cent growth rate in the first quarter, the country still needs the $19 billion in stimulus spending proposed in the budget.

"We are still in a fragile time."
Finance Minister Jim Flaherty

Habs trade playoff hero

Canadiens send goaltender Halak to Blues for prospects

The Montreal Canadiens have made their goaltending choice — Carey Price stays and playoff hero Jaroslav Halak is off to the St. Louis Blues.

The Canadiens dealt Halak for two young forward prospects Thursday, even though the 25-year-old usurped Price as their starting goaltender late in the NHL season and played brilliantly in leading them to a berth in the Eastern Conference final.

In return, Montreal got centre Lars Eller, who may be ready to play next season, and rugged winger Ian Schultz from the junior Calgary Hitmen, who will likely need seasoning in the minors.

Canadiens general manager Pierre Gauthier called it a "big picture decision," in which the team's scouts and managers opted for the long-term potential of the 22-year-old Price, the fifth overall draft pick of 2005, over the more immediate success from the 25-year-old Halak. Halak was the Canadiens' player of the year in 2009-10, when he went 26-13-5 and was fifth among NHL goalies in save percentage at .940 and ninth in goals-against average at 2.40. Price was 13-20-5 with a 2.77 average and a .912 save percentage.

Both goaltenders are due to become restricted free agents July 1, with Halak holding the right to salary arbitration, but Gauthier didn't try to work out a deal once the team decided to make a trade.

He could have kept both, but Halak indicated in a conference call that would have left both unhappy.

"I think they did the best thing they could do — keep one goalie and give the other one a chance to play most of the season," Halak said from Slovakia. "It's best for everyone that I was dealt and can start on a new beginning."

St. Louis made the trade after informing veteran goalie Chris Mason they would not attempt to sign him to a new contract.

Halak earned $800,000 US last season and is due for a big raise.

Jaroslav Halak became a hero for the Montreal Canadiens during the playoffs, where he set a team record with 53 regulation-time stops in a 4-1 victory over Washington as the Canadiens came back from a 3-1 deficit to beat the first-place Capitals in the opening round.

Reaction

- The Jaroslav Halak trade was widely panned by Habs fans on Twitter and other websites within minutes of its completion. Most felt that Carey Price should have been dealt and, if not, the team should have got more for Halak.

A week full of drama, emotion at World Cup

Only one week into its run, the World Cup in South Africa has already delivered more drama than a full season of the most popular soap opera.

And here's the difference — this is reality TV.

The omnipresent vuvuzelas provide the soundtrack for every match and they never fail to grab the viewer's attention.

Ears immediately perk up.

The play-by-play announcers are forced to create urgency in their narration to be heard above the din. Never has so much emotion been spent on a plastic dollar-store horn.

The gigantic gaffe by English goalkeeper Robert Green is akin to the impending fall of the British Empire ... or so we are led to believe.

How can Green possibly go back in that net? And what if he did and he let in another softie? It would surely be the end of his international career.

He would be vilified by the motherland of football. That's serious stuff.

Then there's Diego Maradona, the legendary coach of Argentina who dances and twirls on the sidelines as the new star Lionel Messi prowls the pitch for the Albi Celestes.

It is fascinating to watch as the cameras constantly veer from Messi's brilliant football to the demonstrative and melodramatic Maradona, who becomes the centre of attention as we seemingly wait for his next and perhaps most celebrated meltdown yet.

The South African players come off the bus singing and dancing. It is a joyous solidarity rarely seen in professional sport. And then there are the Italians, who become red-faced and allow tears to flow in the rousing rendition of their national anthem.

There is hugging and crying and the Spanish press refers to a defeat at the hands of Switzerland as a "national tragedy."

It's only the first round and there is a long way to go, but already emotions are exceedingly raw.

You have to love it because most of the time we're used to sporting dramas being played out in courtrooms or at union bargaining tables when gigantic contracts are considered.

As the World Cup turns we're looking at something bigger than that. This time all the drama takes place on the field of play.

And that's as it should be.

Opening round: Weir off to strong start at U.S. Open

Mike Weir hits his tee shot on the 18th hole Thursday during the first round of the U.S. Open in Pebble Beach, Calif.

GOLF Mike Weir popped the ball out of the tangled rough, then watched it hit the green and fall in the hole for a birdie on No. 16 and sole possession of the U.S. Open lead.

Too bad momentum at Pebble Beach on Thursday morning lasted about as long as the trip to the next tee box.

The 2003 Masters champion from Bright's Grove, Ont., followed his great shot with a bogey-bogey finish to wind up at 1-under 70. He was tied for the clubhouse lead with K.J. Choi, Ian Poulter and Rafael Cabrera-Bello after a good opening round that, at times, seemed as if it could have been better.

"You don't want to finish a round like that. It's never a good thing," Weir said. "But it wasn't because I was looking at the scoreboard and looking at where I am in the tournament. Because it's Thursday, and I just happened to hit a couple of poor shots."

He wasn't alone. The sun was shining and the wind was blowing on one of America's great courses for the opening round, leading to the spectre of a brittle course and dry, unreceptive greens for Tiger Woods, Lee Westwood, Tom Watson and the rest with afternoon tee times. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Celtics 79 Lakers 83

VS

NBA The Los Angeles Lakers have won their 16th NBA championship, dramatically rallying from a fourth-quarter deficit to beat the Boston Celtics 83-79 Thursday night in Game 7 of the NBA finals.

Kobe Bryant scored 23 points despite 6-of-24 shooting while winning his fifth title with the Lakers, who repeated as NBA champions for the first time since winning three straight from 2000-02.

Ron Artest added 20 points for the Lakers, who shot terribly while trailing for most of the first three quarters.

Yet they reclaimed the lead midway through the fourth quarter and hung on with big shots from Pau Gasol and Artest.

With their fifth title in 11 seasons, the Lakers moved one championship behind Boston's 17 banners for the overall NBA lead.

Paul Pierce had 18 points and 10 rebounds for the Celtics, who just couldn't finish the final quarter of a remarkable playoff run after a fourth-place finish in the Eastern Conference. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Elimination looms after loss to Mexico

GROUP A RESULTS

Mexico 2 France 0

VS

Substitutes Javier Hernandez and Cuauhtemoc Blanco scored a goal in Mexico's 2-0 win over France at the World Cup Thursday, leaving the French on the verge of elimination from Group A.

Hernandez ran onto Rafael Marquez's pass and rounded goalkeeper Hugo Lloris before guiding the ball home in the 64th minute. Hernandez's grandfather, Tomas Balcazar, scored for Mexico against France in the 1954 World Cup, although that was a consolation goal.

Blanco converted a penalty in the 79th after Eric Abidal fouled Pablo Barrera, who came on for the injured Carlos Vela in the first half.

"We have to enjoy this win," Marquez said. "We have to go step-by-step and be calm."

Mexico is now level on points with Uruguay, both with four. France and South Africa both have one point but still have a chance to advance.

France has to beat South Africa and hope Mexico and Uruguay don't draw their match in Tuesday's final group games.

"We're not going to go out of this tournament without winning a match," France winger Florent Malouda said.

"It's shameful to lose like that. It's a question of saving our honour."

England coach feeling the heat

QUESTIONS After a lengthy honeymoon with England, Fabio Capello is starting to feel the kind of pressure he was used to when coaching Real Madrid and AC Milan.

Capello goes into Friday's World Cup match against Algeria (CBC, 12:15 p.m. MST) with his decision-making under serious scrutiny for the first time since taking charge 30 months ago.

The pressure is now on Capello on his 64th birthday to mastermind a win in England's Group C match against Algeria. Pressure is nothing new to the Italian, who was fired by Madrid in 2007 despite delivering the club its 30th league title.

"We always think England is big pressure but managing AC Milan and Real Madrid is also big pressure on a daily basis," England defender Jamie Carragher said. "He has dealt with that and been successful."

Capello has been revered for ruling with an iron fist, but questions are now being asked over why he is so strict with his players.

He kept them in the dark over the starting lineup until two hours before kickoff against the U.S. team, a move that has been blamed for contributing to Robert Green's horrendous goalkeeping blunder.

And he will do so again for the Algeria game. He said he already made up his mind who will be the goalkeeper on Friday, but won't tell the players until just before the game.

Argentina's Gonzalo Higuain, right, scores a goal Thursday during the Group B match against South Korea in Johannesburg, South Africa.

Higuain's hat trick sparks Argentina

GROUP B RESULTS
Argentina 4 South Korea 1

Gonzalo Higuain scored a hat trick in Argentina's 4-1 win over South Korea at the World Cup Thursday, a result that put the South Americans on the brink of qualifying for the next round from Group B.

Higuain scored his first goal in the 33rd minute with a far post header after Nicolas Burdisso flicked on a cross from Maxi Rodriguez. He added two second-half goals — in the 76th and 80th minutes — to put the result beyond doubt.

Argentina had gone ahead 1-0 in the 17th when Park Chu-young deflected a free kick from Lionel Messi into his own net.

After Higuain's first goal, Lee Chung-yong pulled one back for South Korea by pouncing on a defensive mistake in first-half injury time.

With Messi playing in a slightly deeper role, Argentina lacked a cutting edge in the opening stages, its main threat coming down the left wing where Carlos Tevez was drifting into space and linking well with Gabriel Heinze and Angel Di Maria.

Higuain, who missed a string of chances against Nigeria, shot high over the bar in the eighth minute and Messi only showed occasional flashes of brilliance as he was marked closely and often found himself closed down by two or three opponents.

Opa! Greece gets first World Cup win

GROUP B RESULTS
Greece 2 Nigeria 1

Now that Greece has scored a goal and won a match, this World Cup is a success.

The Greeks claimed their first World Cup win by rallying to beat 10-man Nigeria 2-1 in Group B Thursday.

Vassilis Torosidis poked home a loose ball in the 71st minute after a mistake from Nigeria goalkeeper Vincent Enyeama to make history for Greece, which had lost all four previous World Cup matches, including three in 1994.

"We badly wanted this, because we'd never even scored a goal in the World Cup before," Dimitris Salpingidis said. "I can't say whether we'll make it out of the group. But I can say that we'll leave with our heads held high."

To advance to the second round, the Greeks almost certainly must get at least a draw with powerful Argentina Tuesday; the Argentines routed South Korea 4-1 Thursday and the Koreans took Greece 2-0 earlier in the tournament. A difficult assignment for sure.

Alexandros Tziolis of Greece jumps for a header beside Nigeria's Dickson Etuhu during Thursday's Group B match.

So they are revelling in this victory.

"Of course it would have been a shame to go home without a point, so we're very pleased to have scored points here," Greece coach Otto Rehhagel said.

Running with werewolf pack

Edmonton native, Houseman reprises role in Eclipse film

LINA TOYODA
for Metro Canada

Landing your first acting role in a major motion picture, let alone a box office hit, is a rare occurrence that takes perhaps just the right alignment of skill, timing and a few lucky stars.

But that's exactly how things panned out for 20-year-old Canadian actor Tyson Houseman, who caught a break and was cast as Quil Ateara in the teen vampire phenomenon known as The Twilight Saga.

Houseman says he kind of just fell into acting.

"To be completely honest, I was terrified of the idea of acting but whenever I was actually doing it, I was enjoying myself so much. I could get so comfortable being on stage," says Houseman. "It was just the anticipation building up to it that completely scared the heck out of me. I think one day I realized I really enjoyed that adrenaline that I got from that fear."

The Edmonton native plays one of the boys of the wolf pack and first appears in New Moon, the second of four parts in the series. He will reprise his role in the third — and highly anticipated — Eclipse, set for worldwide release at the end of the month.

He says his character has a much bigger role in Eclipse and "imprints" on a female in the film, a wolf pack ritual and rite of passage, something along the lines of "love at first sight" and claiming a future mate.

Opportunity knocked soon after he made the move to Vancouver to pursue an acting career after graduating high school.

"About four months into living in Vancouver I found this open casting call on Craigslist and they were looking for people who had a Native American background who were between the ages of 15 and 25 and I was like, 'Yeah I fit that description so why not go check it out.'"

Only actors of native descent were cast for members of the wolf pack and Houseman says he feels lucky to have fallen into a character that was similar enough to himself that he could easily relate to.

Josh Brolin plays the title character in Jonah Hex.

Stick to the comic book

Metro World News

The best part of Jonah Hex — where the movie really becomes fun — is during a brief sequence at the beginning when a bulk of backstory for Hex (Josh Brolin) is told using animation similar to the comic book on which the movie is based.

That's a really long way of saying go read the comic, and skip this loud, clumsy super-western.

The story follows Hex, who developed mystical powers after some Native Americans saved him from the grave, enlisted by President Ulysses S. Grant (Aidan Quinn) to stop Quentin Turnbull (John Malkovich), a former Confederate officer who's hilariously presented as the country's first terrorist.

As lots of dialogue and unnecessary narration reminds us, the mission's personal for Hex, since Turnbull killed his wife and son.

Lots of time and effort was put into getting the massive scars covering half of Hex's face right, which must be why so much of Brolin's screen time is spent in close-ups shot to highlight it.

Perhaps they should've spent a bit more time and effort on making sure he could speak clearly through all the prosthetic work. At one point, Hex dispatches a bad guy and delivers what we have to assume is a witty one-liner. The problem is it's unintelligible.

The real tragedy is the amount of acting talent involved, including Brolin, Malkovich and Michael Fassbender (a breakout in Inglorious Basterds).

Megan Fox can't really be faulted, as she's barely in the movie and has very little to do but scowl and heave her chest when she is there. The cast is definitely having fun with the material, but that fun doesn't extend to the audience, unfortunately.

Toy Story 3 raising the sequel bar

Franchise breaks new ground in a final installment that builds on past, without relying on old gags

Toy Story 3

Director: Lee Unkrich
Stars: Tom Hanks, Tim Allen, Ned Beatty
Classification: G
Rating: ●●●●½

Metro World News

Buzz Lightyear and Woody get a new lease on life in Toy Story 3.

A number after a film's title is usually cause for worry, as sequels aren't always the most artistically inspired creations. The best sequels, in fact, tend to eschew the numbers altogether (like The Dark Knight, The Empire Strikes Back and Aliens, for example).

But with the Toy Story franchise, that cause for concern is far from warranted.

Once again, the folks at Pixar have returned to the characters of their first movie, now 15 years past, and come up with an inspired, intelligent and entertaining film expertly straddling the line between kids and adults entertainment.

The latest — and apparently final — instalment finds Woody (Tom Hanks), Buzz Lightyear (Tim Allen) and the rest of the familiar toys of the first two films fretting over their owner Andy's impending departure to college.

After becoming convinced they're headed for the trash heap, the toys mount an escape that lands them in the apparent Shangri-La of a local daycare centre, where the toy world is overseen by a deceivingly cuddly old teddy bear (Ned Beatty). While kids will certainly enjoy the movie, don't be surprised to find most of the adult audience needing tissues.

The only real criticism of the movie is that, like almost everything else being released by a major studio this year, it's available in 3-D.

Don't bother. The visuals are spectacular enough without it, and the technology doesn't add enough to warrant the higher ticket price.

Gord Downie's new album is called The Grand Bounce.

Interesting releases for summer 2010

SoundCheck

Alan Cross

metronews.ca/soundcheck

Now that the first day of summer is almost here (7:28 a.m. on Monday!), it's time to look at some releases that could prove interesting.

Gord Downie

The Grand Bounce (Out now): Easily the best thing he's done outside of the Tragically Hip. Unabashedly Canadian and summery, this is a CD that should be played around a lot of campfires this summer.

Foals

Total Life Forever (Out Now): Wondering about the song in the promo for season seven of Entourage? It's Spanish Sahara from their second album.

Sleigh Bells

Treats (Out Now): An interesting combination of noise and pop that sold more than 21,000 albums through iTunes in just three weeks.

Stone Temple Pilots

S/T (Out Now): Loaded with hooks and that STP guitar crunch, this record was a real pleasant surprise. Maybe this second act is for real.

Two Door Cinema Club

Tourist History (Out now): Imagine a smoother sounding Franz Ferdinand and from Northern Ireland instead of Scotland. When I first heard the single I Can Talk, it stayed in my head for days.

Stars

The Five Ghosts (Tuesday): One of the prettiest records I've heard so far this year comes from this Montreal band and Broken Social Scene associates. Their pre-release cross-Canada club tour in May sold out immediately — which tells you something about the anticipation for this CD.

Delphic

Acolyte (June 29): I've been raving about the smooth, dance-y indie-tronica from these Manchester guys for almost a year now. Songs like Doubt and Counterpoint deserve to be heard by as many people as possible.

Arcade Fire

The Suburbs (Aug. 3): Easily one of the most anticipated albums of the year, indie or major. Did I mention they're playing Madison Square Garden this summer?

Disturbed

Asylum (August): The fifth album from this Chicago band has already been preceded by a single called Another Way to Die. Singer David Draiman: "No songs about puppy dogs or rainbows here."

Filter

The Trouble with Angels (August): If the lead single The Inevitable Relapse is any indication Richard Patrick may have regained the mojo that he lost sometime in the late 90s.

Brandon Flowers

Flamingo (September): The Killers front dude — an incurable workaholic, apparently — has a solo album coming this fall while the rest of the band takes a break. Listen for a lead single called Crossfire.

Wainwright album carries voice of late mom

NEW MUSIC Martha Wainwright's new album is a tribute to one singing legend but it is also imbued with the voice and influence of another, her mother Kate McGarrigle.

McGarrigle, who died in January, provided backup vocals and accordion on "Sans fusils, ni souliers, a Paris: Martha Wainwright's Piaf Record," which was recorded last summer and released this week.

Her mother even helped pick the songs.

"She was absolutely involved in the album," Wainwright said. "She was there for the whole time and driving me nuts. But I knew she needed to be there and I needed for her to be there because I've always been guided by my mother artistically."

The CD is dedicated to McGarrigle and is one of the final times she performed with her daughter.

They were last on stage together at the family's annual Christmas concert in December 2009, a month before McGarrigle died of cancer.

Wainwright, who is a new mom herself, speaks with quiet pride when asked what it was like to work with her mother on the album. "It was just watching somebody give completely of themselves, which is what Piaf did and what I hope to do as well."

CBC

Sun TV News, the proposed specialty news channel, tried to lure Rick Mercer into bringing his highly successful CBC show Rick Mercer Report to the network being dubbed 'Fox News North.' Mercer said he has decide to remain at the CBC.

Sun TV sought Mercer

It seems like a made-up headline on the Rick Mercer Report — political satirist turns down top job at Fox News North.

But it's no joke. The proposed specialty news channel Sun TV News made a play to make Rick Mercer the cornerstone of its prime-time lineup, the comic said, and confirmed he had a meeting with Kory Teneycke, the newly-hired Quebecor vice president.

Teneycke, who less than a year ago was Prime Minister Stephen Harper's director of communications, was hoping to steal CBC's top-rated Rick Mercer Report.

"He called me up and we went for a drink," recalled Mercer. The meeting took place "a while ago" and Mercer chose to keep mum about his knowledge of the proposed news venture.

"They were a very stealth operation," he said. "Because they had offered me a job basically I felt obligated to keep my mouth shut. Maybe that was their plan!"

The Rick Mercer Report has been eyed by rival broadcasters in the past. Seen as a crown jewel of Canadian content, it is a consistent ratings winner coming off its seventh and most popular season.

When it came down to it, Mercer chose to stay with CBC.

"Since we're talking about a conservative television network, I'll quote a great conservative and say I decided to 'dance with the one that brung me,"' he said, borrowing a phrase from former prime minister Brian Mulroney.

While he was "very intrigued by this notion of starting a new network," Mercer ultimately felt he had no reason to jump.

"As an independent producer, I'm very happy with my relationship with the CBC," he said, "but, like anybody, you always hear people out."

Mercer is a fan of one of the station's early hires, former Global Ottawa correspondent David Akin. He's also pals with outspoken Western-based conservative pundit Ezra Levant and thinks he'd make a good addition to the service — provided Quebecor knows what it's getting into.

"I hope Ezra catches the world on fire with his smile and his charm — for five or ten hours a week," Mercer said.

"I hope, if he's live, they have good liability insurance."

At first glance, Mercer seems like an unlikely target for an upstart, right-wing TV news operation. It would be a bit like Fox News stealing Jon Stewart's The Daily Show away from Comedy Central.

Officials at Sun TV News have made no secret they're out to counter what they see as a liberal bias in established Canadian media circles. Mercer has heard the "lefty CBC" accusations for years but doesn't generally buy it.

"Jean Chretien used to go home and kick his set in" over reports on the French language CBC service, said Mercer.

He recalls full-page stories in Ottawa newspapers "with analysts discussing what can be done about what Mercer is saying about Paul Martin every week."

The self-described "news junkie" doesn't expect Sun TV News to just be a mouthpiece for the Harper government, either.

Behind the scenes at the MMVAs

KEITH CARMEN
for Metro Canada

The MuchMusic Video Awards are ready to take over Toronto this weekend. But have you ever wondered what it takes to bring viewers one evening of spectacular musical revelry? How about a year's worth of blood, sweat, tears, revised schedules, meetings, permits and more headaches than a migraine convention.

Such are the lives of Sheila Sullivan and Neil Staite, MMVA organizers for the past decade. While we're gawking at co-host Miley Cyrus and watching performances by Ke$ha, Drake and Justin Bieber, this duo is breathing sighs of relief at seeing the past 12 months come to fruition.

In fact, before the lights cooled down after last year's MMVAs, Sullivan and Staite were already organizing this successor, attaining artists, sourcing local equipment suppliers, budgeting staff, re-routing streetcars and garnering the inevitable permits/policing an event of such magnitude necessitates.

"Planning starts the day after the MMVAs," notes Sullivan in the midst of a dazzling dance of riggers, materials and props that overtake the parking lot at MuchMusic. "We immediately hold a postmortem on last year's show, seeing what worked, what didn't and how we can make things even better next year."

The MMVAs air Sunday night on MuchMusic

Passerbys begin to see the fruits of such labour four weeks before the event looms as the asphalt becomes abuzz with activity. This year's theme: each stage resembles various culinary gadgetry.

"That overhang one's the 'George Foreman,'" Sullivan smiles, pointing to the largest of three stages. "The enclosed one is 'The Microwave,' the one at floor level here is 'The Griddle' and if you look overhead, that platform jutting out is 'The Spatula.'"

Turning attention to two more aspects, Staite notes that the popular red carpet ceremony has been relocated to MuchMusic's side entrance in order to allow for yet another stage to overtake the infamous intersection at Queen and John streets.

Moreover, in order to ensure those at home aren't left out, VJ Liz Trinnear will host the online-exclusive backstage Digital Lounge, she quips will "have a bit of everything. I'll be talking to bands on-camera, blogging, tweeting, texting and on my phone."

Of course, the means more technical strategizing. At that, gazing across the dozens of bodies, tonnes of rigging, cables, lights and massive machinery, one is mystified at how the MMVAs come together with perceived ease.

"It's a big chess game requiring lots of meetings to make sure that we do everything in the correct order," Staite sighs. "We have pages and pages of plans … that are still changing up to the second the show starts. But once it does, it's worth it."

Betty White returns to familiar sitcom territory in the new TV Land series, Hot in Cleveland.

White Hot

It's a sitcom about four single women of a certain age, portrayed by an ensemble that includes Betty White.

Hot in Cleveland, which debuts this week on TV Land, is not officially The Golden Girls redux. But the similarities don't end with the set up. Just as White shared top billing with three golden character actresses, she now works with another trio of established comedy veterans: Valerie Bertinelli (One Day at a Time); Jane Leeves (Frasier); and Wendie Malick (Just Shoot Me!).

Q When this script came across your desks and they said it would be on TV Land, did you think, "Huh?"

A Bertinelli: Goodness. When I first heard about it, Betty was already set.

Q When I first heard about this, I thought, "the new millennium's Golden Girls."

A Malick: Silver. The Silver Girls.

Q What do you think of that, Betty? Do you think this is the next generation's Golden Girls?

A White: I think it's chemistry no matter what the age. I think age is the bottom rung. I don't think age matters. ... I'm 88 and a half, and I'm still working my tail off.

Q How is the chemistry different here than it was on The Golden Girls?

A White: It doesn't differ that much. It is a team effort. These girls all work together. There is never, "How many lines do you have?"

Bertinelli: We are all trying to get rid of our lines, usually.

New HBO doc drills into natural gas industry

Gasland premieres Monday night on HBO

TELEVISION What do you do when a gas company offers nearly $100,000 US for the right to drill on your land?

If you're Josh Fox, you refuse the money — then make an award-winning documentary portraying the natural gas industry as an environmental menace that ruins water, air and lives.

In Gasland, premiering next Monday night on HBO, Fox presents a frightening scenario in which tens of thousands of drilling rigs take over the landscape, gas companies exploit legal loopholes to inject toxins into the ground and residents living nearby contract severe, unexplained illnesses.

This isn't some dystopian nightmare, Fox says, but the harsh reality in communities from Texas to Colorado to Pennsylvania. "People are feeling completely upended," the 37-year-old filmmaker said in an interview at his woodland home near the Pennsylvania-New York border, where gas companies have been leasing thousands of acres of pristine watershed land in anticipation of a drilling boom.

Fox says the natural gas industry is selling the American public a lie. The industry calls Gasland a deeply flawed piece of propaganda.

Whatever the truth, Fox's film arrives at a fraught time. Between the Gulf oil spill and several recent mishaps involving natural gas extraction, the public is focused on energy — and the increasingly complicated ways we are getting it.

BOOKS Candace Bushnell has more tales of sex and the city, if not Sex And The City. The best-selling author is set to write two more novels, The Associated Press reports. Grand Central Publishing said Wednesday the first is about a romantic triangle and is coming out in 2012. It'll be titled The Two Mrs. Stones.

2 Drake

Musical take on Star Wars films

IAN GORMLEY
for Metro Canada

Anthony Daniels has worn many hats over his 36-year career — appearing on stage, in radio, television and film. But, none has managed to eclipse the gold C-3PO mask he first donned back in 1976, when the British actor accepted the part of an etiquette-obsessed protocol droid in Star Wars.

Despite reprising the role five more times on film — and in countless spin-offs and tie-ins — Daniels says that it wasn't until his current stint working on Star Wars: In Concert, that he "truly gets" fans' obsession with the Star Wars universe.

"All these years, I've been slightly distanced from it," he says. "Star Wars in Concert has absolutely put the story in perspective to me."

Star Wars in Concert appears in Edmonton June 27

As its name suggests, Star Wars in Concert is a heavily edited version of the six films projected on large screens and accompanied by an orchestra with Daniels narrating.

"It's a combination of stage, television and film acting to me," he says. "I'm storytelling, I'm narrating and I'm acting."

The show, which took three and a half years to put together, had input from Star Wars creator George Lucas and conductor John Williams who wrote some of the music he penned for the films specifically for the show. It's quite a production centred around a role Daniels never wanted.

"I refused the job interview," he recalls.

Despite his ongoing loyalty to the Star Wars brand, Daniels is careful not to let it take over his life.

"These conventions, I prefer not to be in a church hall every Sunday writing my name out like a naughty school boy." When not playing a golden-limbed robot, Daniels works as a visiting scholar at Carnegie Mellon University's Entertainment Technology Centre in Pittsburgh, Penn.

"I'm not going to go on forever," he cautions. "I keep going back because I've realized that it's a path that chose me."

George Clooney was praised for his voice over work as Mr. Fox in Fantastic Mr. Fox.

Good acting important in animated films too

Actors do some of their most interesting work when given the chance to let loose behind an animated role.

With the opening Friday of Toy Story 3 — which features a formidable cast including Tom Hanks, Tim Allen, Joan Cusack, Don Rickles, Michael Keaton and Ned Beatty — here's a look at some of the best examples of actors bringing cartoons to life:

• GEORGE CLOONEY IN FANTASTIC MR. FOX Clooney was nominated for a best-actor Oscar for Up in the Air, but his voice work as Mr. Fox was just as memorable last year. He brings all that Clooney charm in the richness of his delivery, all the smarts and presence that distinguish him as not just a movie star but one of the most solid, versatile actors working today.

• ANTONIO BANDERAS IN THE SHREK SERIES Even as the Shrek movies have dwindled in quality — particularly parts three and four — Banderas has consistently livened things up as the swashbuckling kitty cat Puss in Boots.

• BEN BURTT IN WALL He's a multiple Oscar winner who created R2-D2's signature sound effects in the Star Wars movies. Here, he provides all the blips and bleeps through which the lovable robot WALL-E — or Waste Allocation Load Lifter Earth-Class — communicates.

• BRAD BIRD IN THE INCREDIBLES The writer-director of another of the best Pixar films ever also took on the juiciest role: Edna "E" Mode, the petite costume designer to the superhero family.

• BETTY LOU GERSON IN 101 DALMATIANS Gerson played Cruella De Vil perfectly, dripping with tacky wealth and insincerity. In an interview posted on Disney.com, Gerson said her voice and physique actually influenced the look of the character: "At the time, I was a slinky brunette with high cheekbones."

Flockhart drives Ford to marriage

METRO WORLD NEWS

HE FINALLY MADE AN HONEST SKELETON OUT OF HER After nearly nine years together, Harrison Ford and Calista Flockhart finally tied the knot in a quiet ceremony in New Mexico earlier this week, according to Page Six. The ceremony was performed in the state governor's mansion in Santa Fe and was officiated by New Mexico Governor Bill Richardson. Ford is currently filming Cowboys and Aliens in New Mexico.

American DUI

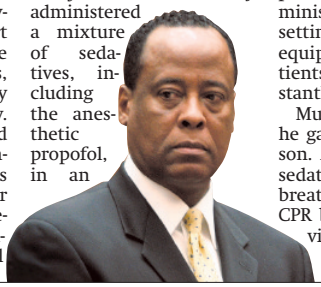

THOSE ADORABLE KIDS HAVE ALL TURNED OUT SO WELL, HAVEN'T THEY? It seems Chris Klein was more than just a little intoxicated when he was arrested for driving under the influence earlier this week. The actor's blood alcohol tested at .20 during a Breathalyzer test, sources tell TMZ. The legal limit in California is .08. The arrest marks Klein's second DUI in six years. The American Pie star also reportedly had a dog with him in the car, which was later retrieved by a friend, according to the website.

Klein was arrested early Wednesday on suspicion of drunken driving after he was spotted weaving across lanes on a Southern California highway, authorities said.

A request for comment was left with Klein's agent and his manager.

Report: Jackson doc never received proper medical gear

WHAT'S THAT OLD SAYING ABOUT A CARPENTER BLAMING HIS TOOLS? Michael Jackson's doctor requested but never received lifesaving gear from the concert promoter organizing the singer's London shows, documents obtained by The Associated Press show.

Emails and a proposed contract detailing Dr. Conrad Murray's negotiations with concert promoter AEG Live reveal the requests for a heart resuscitation unit and a medical assistant.

Neither apparently was in place when Jackson died last June 25 after Murray administered a mixture of sedatives, including the anesthetic propofol, in an attempt to get the chronic insomniac to sleep.

Propofol is extremely powerful and is usually administered only in medical settings with emergency equipment on hand. Patients are normally constantly monitored.

Murray was alone when he gave the drugs to Jackson. After he realized the sedated star was not breathing, he performed CPR but was unable to revive him.

Hudgens nixes Buffy role

SHE BALKED WHEN SHE DISCOVERED VAMPIRES CAN'T LOOK AT THEMSELVES IN THE MIRROR High School Musical star Vanessa Hudgens isn't interested in playing a vampire. The actress reportedly turned down a proposed new Buffy the Vampire Slayer movie, according to Hollyscoop. "She felt that with Twilight still so massive, Buffy would not be the best option right now," a source says. "The idea was to have Sarah [Michelle Gellar] back but with Vanessa as a fresh, new character. The project has been shelved for now."

METRO WORLD NEWS

A desperate ploy?

FOR THE LOVE OF ALL THAT IS HOLY: STOP FEEDING THE BEAST! Reality stars Heidi Montag and Spencer Pratt are faking it when it comes to their breakup, sources insist to Page Six. Their latest ploy reportedly involves a story about Montag having an affair with Cougar Zank, a former Marine turned bodyguard and friend of Pratt. "Heidi and Spencer are trying to play out a fake reality show in the press and get paid along the way," a source says. "They've been approaching magazines and websites to buy the fake story of Zank having an affair with Heidi. They've been asking for $100,000. But no one is interested as they don't sell magazines."
